“International Sportsmen's Expositions (ISE) has worked with Carl Taylor for a half-decade--and for 2006 has expanded our relationship from one to three events--because he puts on the most professional, well-attended, and authentic calling contests we've seen.

“ISE produces the nation's premier sportsmen shows, which means we work to promote the best of what the hunting and fishing industry offers, including contests such as those Carl Taylor stages.

“The relationship works for both parties: we get an event-within-our-event that attracts participants who are the exact kind of customer our exhibitors want and, at the same time, our event partner and its sponsors receive the industry's best publicity and promotion, and access to a huge number of consumers who are capable of and likely to purchase their services and products.”

“Recently I was invited to judge the Idaho State Duck & Goose Calling Contest. Through out the weekend I was impressed at how well each and every contest was ran I feel that the Idaho contest was one of the best events I have ever attended. The event had a huge amount of support from the sponsors, due to the work ethics that Carl possesses. Judging this event was an honor and I am very glad to have had this opportunity. If I ever need any help with a contest, Carl would be the person I would look to for professional assistance. I have been to many events and this surely ranks top notch by my standards.”

As a Judge to the 2005 Grand National 2man Duck Calling contest, I was absolutely amazed. Carl is a first class guy that runs an honest and fare operation. His contest’s are not effected by today’s politics in contest calling. Veteran callers to the Novice, Carl’s contest is the place to be.”
